Skeletal remains of an unidentified male were found on November 26, 1995 in a remote wooded area in Rock County, WI. The body was found on the bank of Turtle Creek in Bradford Township. The male had been deceased for approximately one year placing time of death in the fall/winter of 1994. The male is Caucasian and estimated to be 17-20 years old. He stood approximately 5'06" tall and had long, straight, brown hair. The male was wearing Rothco brand military-style camouflage pants, a black t-shirt bearing "Venom" heavy metal rock band logo, black Nike Air Bound basketball sneakers (size 9 1/2), and boxer style underwear with images of "Bart Simpson". A black Aquatech watch was found on his left wrist. Lip balm, a lighter, and cigarette filters were found inside his pant pockets. A pendant of a goat's head handcrafted from a dinner fork was found underneath his body and a multicolored plaid flannel jacket with snap buttons was found on top of his body. The investigation revealed witnesses had observed a young male wearing similar clothing running in Turtle Creek in October, 1994 near the location where the body was discovered. It has not been confirmed that this male is in fact the unidentified male. Forensic isotope testing of his bones suggests he spent a significant amount of time in WI, MN, or MI. Digitally enhanced images of some of the items found with the male are displayed
